Community Update - Kelso & District

Community Officers have been busy throughout November with both local Bonfire events and the Remembrance Day services and parades.

In addition they have continued their partnership working with local schools where they give prevention inputs and engage with the children at schools across the ward areas. The work of the school link community officers is more important now than ever before. Early engagement doesn't just reduce the likelihood of offending - educational inputs by our officers also reduce the likelihood our young people will become victims of crime.

Officers are aware of complaints regarding speeding and parking and numerous locations throughout the Borders. We are consistent in our approach to enforcement – where there is a history of collisions or a school then we can ask for the assistance of Roads Policing or the CAT officers. Community Officers are being trained up in the use of the speed guns, but again these officers must be deployed in the areas where the risk of accidents is at its greatest, so that we are using our resources efficiently and effectively.

Parking is similar – where there is dangerous or obstructive parking we must prioritise our resources to tackle these issues first and foremost.
